REDEDICATION

Celebrating Twenty-Five Years . . .

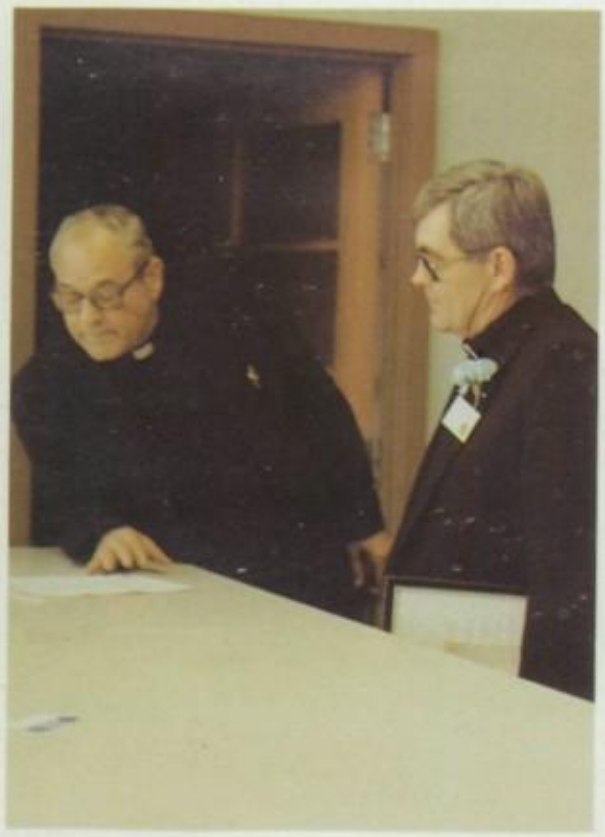
The date was September 30, 1984 and the event was the celebration of twenty-five years of education rooted in love — St. Pius' Silver Anniversary. Attended by the mayors of Festus and Crystal City, the Assistant Superintendent of Archdiocesan Schools, the honorable Judge Krodinger, past and current faculty members, Father Deutschmann (the school's first administrator), alumni, parents and friends, St. Pius kicked off its twenty-fifth year with a rededication ceremony at which it was presented a beautifully framed proclamation from the Missouri Senate commending the school on twenty-five years of service to the community and state. All involved are proud of these past accomplishments and look eagerly to the next twenty-five years as St. Pius travels up the road.

Jeff Villmer reads the proclamation from the Missouri Senate.

25th anniversary cake made by Mrs. Faye Kassen.

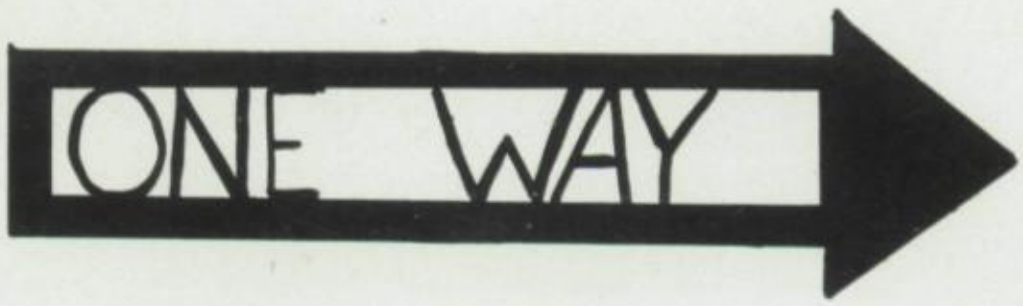
Outside, guests enjoy refreshments after the ceremony.

A 150 member student chorus participated in the rededication ceremony.



Fathers Deutschmann and Dalton go over the program.

Some 800 participants and friends shared the celebration of St. Pius X.



Planned Progress

from dream to reality

"This is the time for the people of Jefferson County to build a Catholic High School" . . . with these words Cardinal Ritter put into motion the hopes and prayers of many years. Within a few months a campaign for funds was begun and the idea of a then Regional High School was born.

Quickly, plans for the high school began to materialize. Final plans were submitted for bid in March of 1958 and in May of the same year Archbishop Ritter was present for the groundbreaking which put, on the road, what was to become St. Pius X High School.

With the fall of 1959, the finish-type work was begun and though not completely finished, St. Pius X admitted its first class, numbering 91 freshmen with a faculty of 5.

On May 8, 1960, Archbishop Joseph E. Ritter dedicated the new $1,500,000 diocesan co-educational high school. In the last 25 years St. Pius has graduated over 2220 students. St. Pius X High School has come from the dreams of few into the hearts of many.

Leaders of the fund drive in 1958 were Amos Govero, Fred Isenman, Bill Pagano, Francis Kist, John Peterein and Herb Besand. These with the many others pictured below were instrumental in getting St. Pius X built.

Benediction ceremony held at Sacred Heart Church in 1958.

Study for big History test and Algebra quiz

Ah, the typical night's homework for a St. Pius student. Okay, it may have been a bit overdone, but those at school could relate to it every once in a while. Studying accounted for a big portion of a student's time this past school year. Whether you were a freshman getting your first taste at "serious" homework, a sophomore who still had a lot to experience, a junior who had finally caught on, or a senior ready to throw your hands up in desperation, you have come to the realization that you can't survive here without the willingness to "burn the midnight oil".

St. Pius offered many types of study areas for the student. One could go to the library to work on research for a class or type a page on the community typewriter. The resource center provided quiet study and some reference material. Computer programming and business students found that the business resource center held the perfect atmosphere for their studying. Of course this list would not be complete without mentioning the cafeteria which, although quiet the first three hours of each day, allowed the students to talk and relax the last three hours. Senior JoAnn Streckfuss felt that St. Pius provided "a comfortable atmosphere where you could concentrate without being distracted unless you are in the cafe during the last three hours."

Through the use of allotted free periods, most students were able to complete a large amount of studying here at school. However, as long as teachers give homework, studying will occur.

Sarah Moss, on the other hand, used the library to quietly complete her work.

Steve Scaggs, Chris Talken, and Mike Ott are dedicated students who depend on the business center.

All hope is not lost for the cafe as these students prove hard work is hard work no matter where you are.

Nancy Prindiville knows that studying isn't all work and no play as she takes a break to pose for the camera.

Sue Wecherlin says that there must be an end to this somewhere. Meanwhile, she prefers the quiet of Mr. Zielonko's office.

Now this is the true meaning of homework, says Michelle Hudson.

MISC . . . . .

Seniors Jim Schrader, Paul Adamec, Tim Miller and Ron Ott get caught by the camera during a homeroom Christmas party.

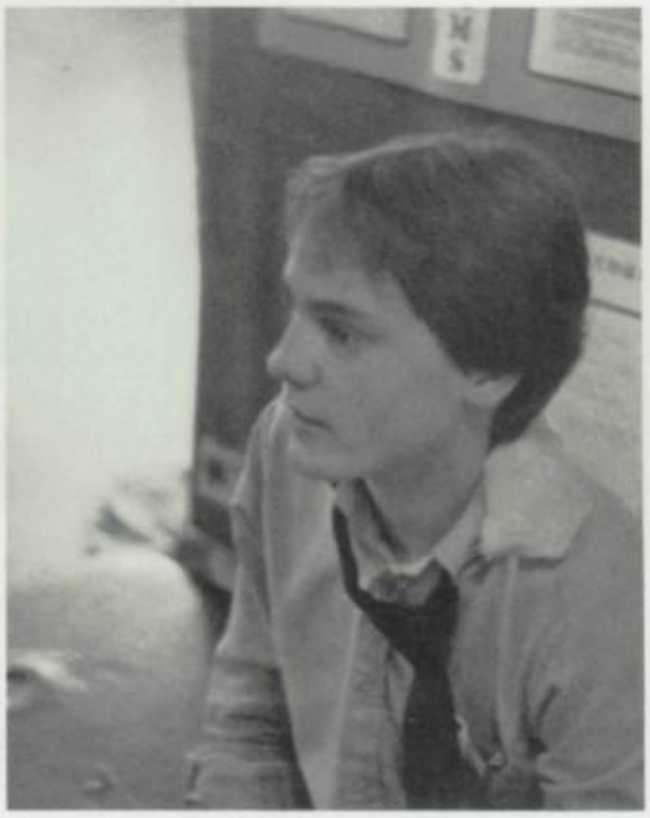
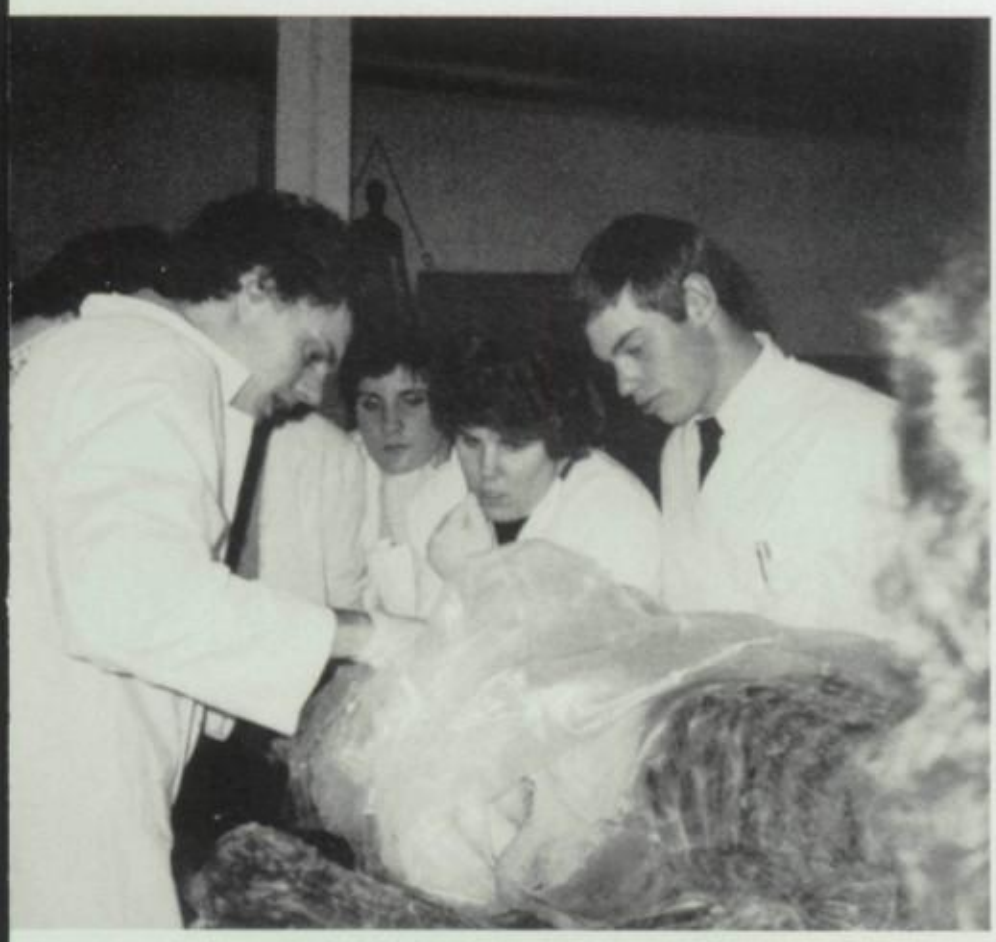
Dr. Hopson, "For all you do this sign is for you."

Cindy Arnold and Mike Ernst start their senior year off right!



Bill Schlett says, "I'll never do it again!"



Cathy Dent and Doug Loucks pay attention during a field trip to Logan College.

The freshmen plot to blow up the library.

Living For The Weekend

What is the best thing about school? Easy, it's the weekend! It's cruisin' Main, hanging out at McDonald's (or Pizza Hut if you're a freshman.) Or, if you're sophisticated like Tom Carter, you can go shopping at Spencer's in South County.

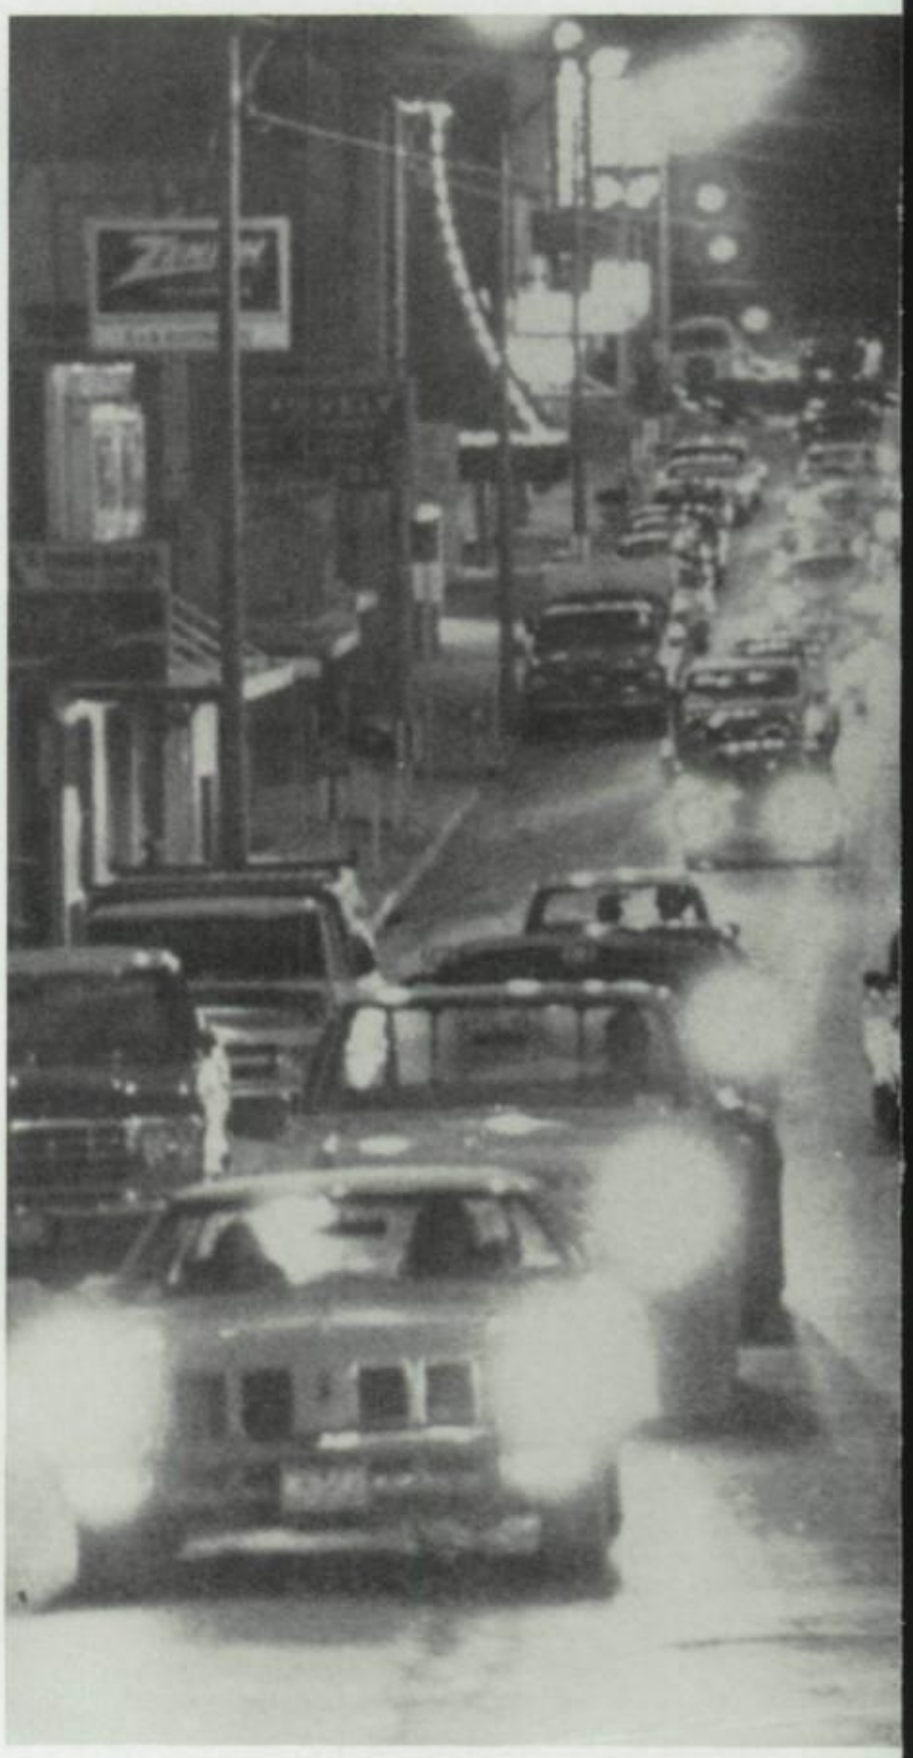
"Weekends are for being with your friends and having a good time," says Mike Miller. "And I also like going to Hallmark and reading the cards!"

"I like getting away from Mr. Navratil's classes," admits Mike Ott.

"Weekends are watching Zippo awards on Friday night, basketball Saturdays, football and wrestling on Sundays, and the Sports Machine on Sunday night," says Tim Pierce.

No matter what someone likes about the weekend, a break from school is always welcome.

SMILE!



Saturday night on Main.

The Week Of Homecoming

A Blast From The Past

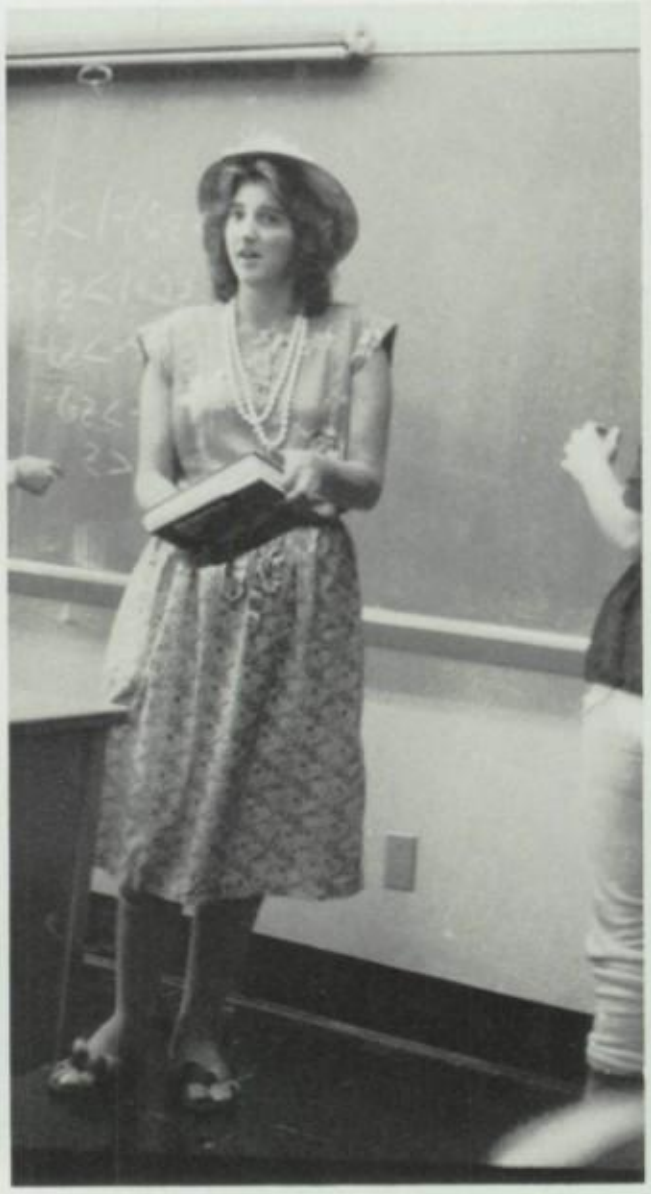
MONDAY: The hands of time were turned back as students wore uniforms from the first days of the school. Guys dressed in white shirts, coats, and ties. Meanwhile, the girls found blue skirts, white shirts, and blue blazers fitting to that time period. The spirit of the day was carried out as the students were required to abide by old rules such as separate eating areas of the cafeteria for boys and girls.

TUESDAY: This was definitely the worst day to stop and gas the car on the way to school. Crazy Clothes Day was the only adequate way to describe the dress of the students and teachers. Plaids matched with stripes were a must. Anything you could grab out of the depth of your closet and throw on set the pace for this day.

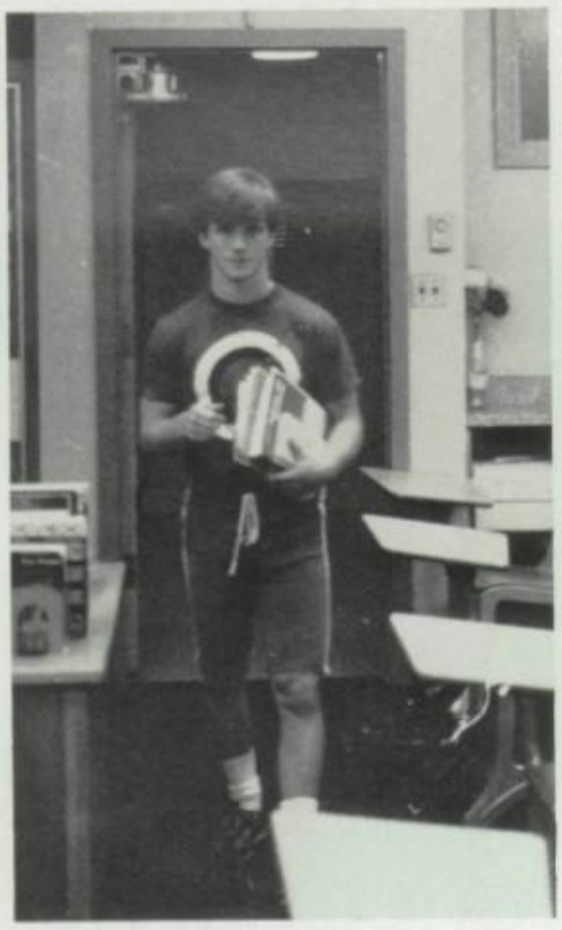
WEDNESDAY: Easily confused with the previous day, Nerd Day provided another day to be worst dressed. High waters and taped glasses were the general rule to be considered a "true" nerd.

THURSDAY: Students proved that there was still some hope for normalcy as they set aside this day to dress up and worship the Lord in mass. In the evening the Senior Class held its Mostaccioli Dinner which was successful despite the rain which cancelled the Bonfire and other activities.

FRIDAY: Spirit was running high as the school rolled into the final day. Football, parade, and more blue and gold were to dominate

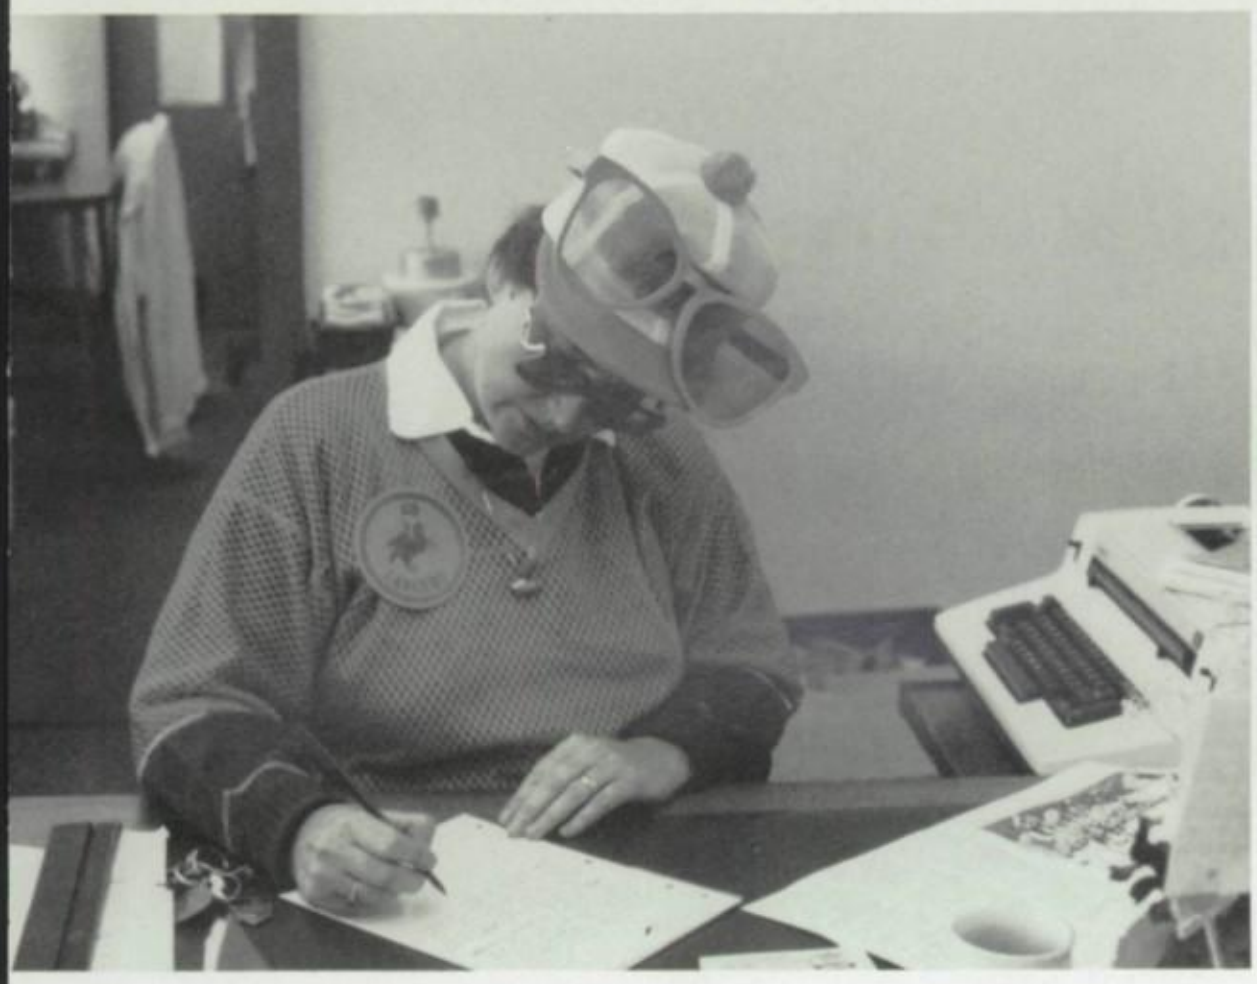


Even teachers participated in the fun of crazy clothes day as shown by Mrs. Wolk.



These seniors show true originality on hat and shades day.

Jim Cook shows some skin on crazy clothes day.



Mrs. Schmidt's spirit was #1.

The true spirit of the week.

Homecoming Week was the one time students were allowed to dress and act crazy without the fear of being dragged away by the men in little white suits. While this definition definitely fits the idea of Homecoming, the week had much more significance when teamed with "St. Pius Spirit".

Seniors, Troy North and Ken Naes seem to have no trouble looking like nerds on Nerd Day.

Joan Hull recreates the attire of the 50's.

Juniors, Michele Prindiville, Tim Wichmer, and Maria VonderHaar display the close feeling that Homecoming Week stood for.

Homecoming Marches On . . . .

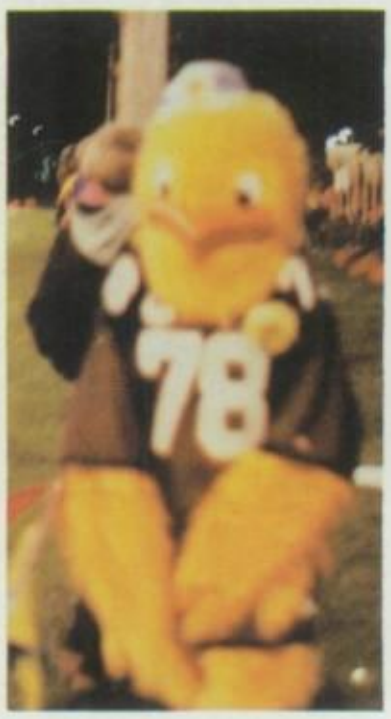
Friday finally arrived with a combination Hat and Shades Day and Blue and Gold Day. Anticipation was high when the bell rang at 11:00 to signal the beginning of the festivities. The students rushed to the parking lot to cover their cars with crepe paper, posters, and balloons. From there it was off to Sunset Park for the start of the official Homecoming Parade. The Flag Corps proudly led the blue and gold gang down Festus main street as others lined the sides to cheer St. Pius. And so this rowdy group was ready for the mighty Lancers and the football game that night. The team gave it their all, but were defeated by the Herculaneum Blackcats 13 to 7. There was a party after the game for all graduates of St. Pius.

The week concluded Saturday with a dance featuring our own Mr. McCreary in the band. The 1984-85 Homecoming was over, but will continue in many fond memories.

Varsity players huddle to figure their strategy.

Seniors, Gina Giovanoni and Melissa Bradshaw help each other with their makeup for the parade.

The Lancer Bird seems to pop up everywhere to cheer the Blue and Gold on.



The mighty Lancer football team line up for the parade.

The band strut their stuff as they lead the parade.

YEA! The cheerleaders are giving their support.

It is a tough job, but someone must do it.

Freshman Field Day

September 7, 1984 was not just another ordinary day, for on this day the mild-mannered, semi-confused freshmen became savage, untamed athletes. The football field noted for its touchdowns, passes, and blocks became an arena for the three-legged race, shoe scramble, war ball and the dreaded obstacle course.

Freshman Field Day is an annual event sponsored by the Student Council. It helps the freshman class get to know one another through team and individual competition in "fun" activities.

"Now what do I do?"

Vicki Betz urges Paula Kassen and Cathy Knott on the finish line in the three-legged race.

Senior Memories

One small step for freshman.
One giant leap for mankind.

Yes, it's hard to be humble when you are a Senior, especially considering the grand beginnings we had. Who could forget the cold spoon game on freshman field day - talk about togetherness! Ah, the fun times, the unforgettable times, the unmistakable times, the active times. Four years of Homecoming, student dances, band concerts, bake sales, talent shows, report cards, club meetings, and rotating schedules are over. We may have arrived on different ships, but were all in the same boat now. Remember when .....

The great thirst for knowledge was always there.

Really, an elevator!

Well, now that I'm here, what do I do?

I love it here, honest!

We should do all right if this is all high school is about!

Juniors

The LANCE staff asked each class to answer one question. The Juniors were asked the following. What was the most embarrassing moment of your high school career? Here are some of the answers we got.

My most embarrassing moment was when the banners at mass fell down — and everyone knew who put them up!

— Bob Sale

I was most embarrassed when I was manager of the football team and we ran out on the field in the mud and I slipped and fell.

— Michelle Hudson

Afer P.E., I put my sweater on inside out and went to class.

— Jim Sauer

Getting hit up side of the head while sitting on the sidelines at a volleyball game. I was manager.

— Laura Selmon

When I was a freshman, I went to open my locker door only to find that all the bolts were taken out. It was during the morning when the halls were filled and everyone knew when my locker door went crashing to the ground. I left it hanging and one of the janitors put it back on.

Sophomores

The Sophomores were asked a two part question during the LANCE survey. What is it like not being the youngest in the school? What do you look forward to most in the next two years?

It's nice being able to influence the freshmen to do stupid things. I look forward to graduation parties.

— Jim Rudisaile

It's all right. you get less attention because you're not new, but you meet the freshmen and it makes me feel older. Becoming juniors and seniors. Also to make more friends and make good grades.

— Ed Haselhorst

As a sophomore your are given a little more respect and responsibility. Seeing myself getting closer to graduation is what I look forward to.

I think it's okay not being the youngest youngest, although it was exciting with all the new experiences, systems and types of people you meet. Freshman year was a most eventful year. Now, with the familiarity we have of high school life, we can settle back and begin to contemplate the meaning of our meager existence.

I suppose one of the things I look most forward to in the next two years is is being an "upper classman" . . .

— Bryan Villmer

I feel a lot more wanted and respected as a person than I did last year. I look forward to life after high school in the adult world.

— Jason Hudson

It's much better because you may act the same way as you did last year but the older students don't care as much. They treat us with more respect. I look forward to learning more information that will help with the future.

Freshmen

The Freshmen were also given a two-part question during the LANCE survey. What is it like being a freshman? How is high school different from grade school?

Being a freshman is lots of fun. The first day of school everyone was nice to me and still are.

High school is different from grade school by the amount of responsibility we have.

— Jodie Cook

I think being a freshman is fun. I can look up to the juniors and seniors. High school is a lot different from grade school It's more exciting and something that any young adult should look forward to.

Being a freshman isn't as bad as everyone says before you get there. Actually is nice to be able to say "I'm in high school." Being in high school we have a lot of advantages, I have things to do on my own and not be treated like babies in grade school.

— Paula Brogan

It's real fun sometimes, although the upperclassmen try to boss you around. You are expected to be more mature and responsible.

Being a freshman means a lot of new responsibilities for us aside from the burdens laid on us in grade school. I feel that being a freshman at Pius is a lot of fun! High school is so much different from grade school, it's more fun, and sometimes very confusing! (I mean I get lost not only in class but when I get my schedule mixed up!!) The people here are nice and they really make you feel at home. I love high school!

FACULTY

"This is really boring. I wish I were in Jamaica."

For many students, going to school six hours a day is by far enough time. For Adele Greaving, the hours at St. Pius are only beginning. Picture if you will . . . attending administrative meetings, hiring and placing faculty and staff, teaching an English class, and supervising over 400 students on a daily basis.

Her talent covers a wide variety of creative arts. Besides a role as principal, she enjoys sewing, macrame, embroidery, and cooking.

How does a person do all that in a mere seven days a week? According to Miss Greaving, it takes organization of time and very little sleep.

Miss Adele Greaving

Principal

Administrator

Father Donald Dalton

Although Father Dalton is always under pressure to keep things running smoothly, he seems to always be under control. His careful planning for the future has become a reality mirrored in the success of the school.

It is through his deep concern for and involvement with the students that the pace is set for St. Pius' outstanding accomplishments.

Father Dalton continues to maintain the academic excellence and the good name of the school. His major concern this year has been the celebration of the school's twenty-fifth year of operation.

But Father also has a life outside of school. He enjoys tennis and taking costly risks in the game of poker.

"Bills, bills, bills," mumbles Father Dalton.

Billie Barker

Thanks to her Bachelor's Degree in Business Education Mrs. Barker, fulfills her role as a teacher with a work load of great diversity; from Business Law to Typing I to dealing with the technology of the future in BASIC Programming and Data Processing. Wherever a TRS-80 can be found you can be sure to find this business teacher close at hand. But in addition to being instructor to over one hundred students a day, she also finds time to be head of the FBLA, a stained glass art hobbiest, and a fulltime mother to her two children, Brook and Sarah.

Dan Bokern

A familiar face in and about the hallways of St. Pius is Mr. Dan Bokern. When it comes to football he has given his team many fatherly pep talks to build up their confidence. Along with all teaching careers come the responsibilities among his are a year-long freshman religion class that he instructs and supervising of weight training.

Ralph Boyer

The athletic world wouldn't be the same without the talents and expertise of Coach Boyer at the helm. Among the courses he heads , are Boy's Physical Education and weight training. When outside of school he enjoys fishing, golfing, camping, and spending time with his family of six and their dog, Dominique.

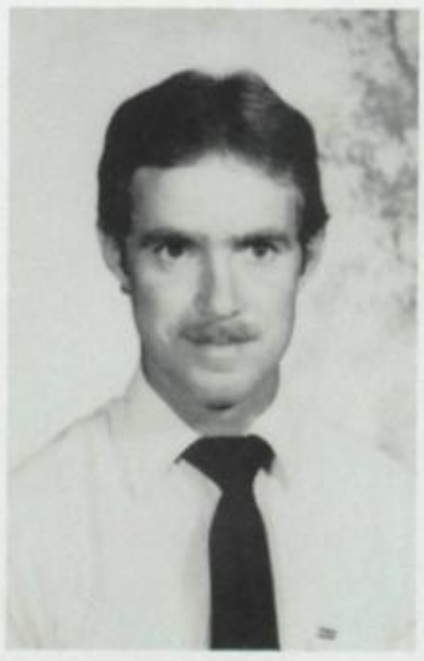
Barb Charboneau

What would physical education be without the skills and athletic ability of Coach Charboneau? Both in and out of school you can always find her enjoying a sport. Whether she is teaching Girl's physical education and weight training, coaching softball and moderating the cheerleaders or just relaxing on the seat of her ten-speed, she is never very far from the world of the "jock."

"The whole art of teaching is only the art of awakening the natural curiosity of young minds for the purpose of satisfying it afterwards."
by Anatole France

Richard Charboneau

Eat your heart out Albert Einstein! Our man Mr. Charboneau knows where it's at. He's got it all together when dealing with numbers, figures, square roots, and angles. But who could blame him with a schedule load like this: Calculus, Pre-Calculus, Trigonometry, Algebra, and Analytic Geometry. Besides being a mathematical genius, he enjoys cross country, baseball, bowling, football, but his favorite hobby are his two daughters Danielle and Ashley.



James Clark

James Clark cannot only tantalize the minds of his young science majors in chemistry and physics, he also has the ability to mystify and hypnotize his audience's mind as he delves into the world of the unknown and unexplainable through the wonderful art known as magic. However, the Harry Houdini of St. Pius says there is a difference between his magic and stage shows. Mr. Clark believes the "real" magic lies not in the hokus pokus and the wave of a wand but in the science of the universe — what makes the stars shine and the planets revolve. The fact is the first one is fake and one is real · one is conceived, the other perceived.

Chuck Coker

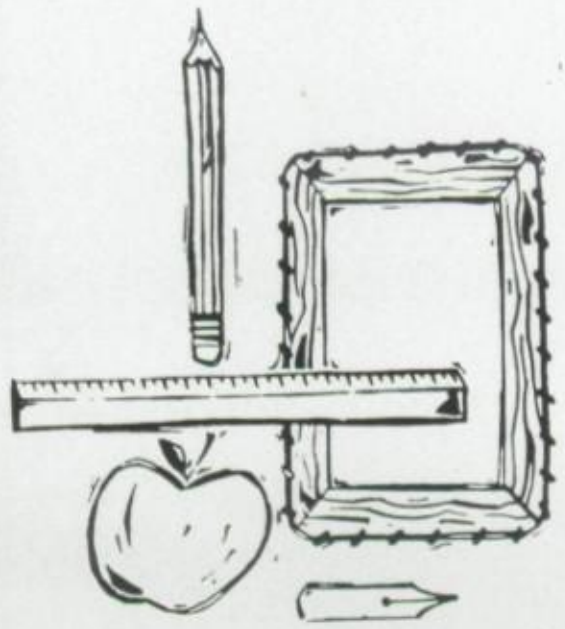
His degree may read "History" major but to the students here at St. Pius he is also the man well-known to all as the protective father who spends many Friday evenings in the Fall come rain, snow, sleet or shine coaching the blue and gold from the side line. However, there is also another side to Mr. Coker, that of the father to three daughters · Terri, Jenni, and Jacqui. He is also a sports fanatic ranging from boating to waterskiing to basketball.

Lora Dixon

"Go Break a Leg" was not intended to be taken seriously by our school librarian, but for reasons unknown to mankind, she wanted to be the first to live up to the old adage. Last year she came to St. Pius and contributed her skills in the library to our school by giving our reference room a whole new look. This year she has further impressed our students by becoming Mr. McCreary's No. 1 aide as director of the Period 5 chorus class.

Sister Mary Louise

Sister Mary Louise proved that Christ truly blesses the lucky ones with gifts of unimaginable value. Although her study at St. Pius was a brief one, her presence and guidance toward her math students and her patience and kindness to all those she met while working here, is truly worth saying "thank you" to. Her title as a nun in the order of Daughters of Charity was genuinely represented by her generosity and giving powers to both the students and co-workers of the faculty.



Lawrence Gordon

Though his classes range from journeying into the past for world history, to explaining the problems and situations of the present to his general business class, Mr. Gordon can always be found helping his Accounting majors try to equal their debits and credits. And what a master he is at his career - being able to balance the "books", protect the consumer, and introduce the Greek gods all in one days work. He is truly an asset to his field and so proves by being the Senior member of the National Honor Society.

Science

Betty Hoeing

Talk about "teach what you preach", the science department has a second semester expert in the field whose BS degree in Biology and Chemistry and Masters Degree in Medical Technology makes her all the more qualified to pass on her knowledge of the human body, living organisms, cells, and chemicals to over 150 students a day who file into room 220 for a range of classes from Anatomy and Physiology to Biology and Microbiology. And how can a person remember all the bones, muscles, and tissues in the body by taking up a hobby like Ms. Hoeings' - reading!

Donna Hopson

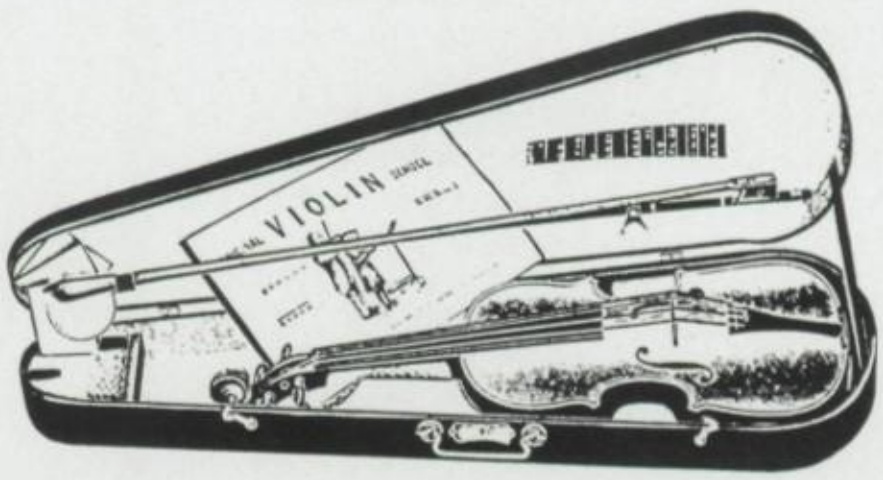
The "Dr. Doolittle" of St. Pius was our very own Biology and Anatomy teacher for the 1984 first semester. Dr. Hopson not only had a baby girl named Tracey that she raises, she is also the mother of various members of the animal kingdom. She shares her home with more than 10 mice, 2 turtles, 1 snake, and other assorted creepy, crawling rodents.

Presenting a combined focus on grammar and literature, the English program at St. Pius has been upgraded by Mr. Janc to provide a balanced blend of the old and the new. English courses make a base for training in oral and written communication to be used throughout the student's life. Besides making sure his students do not say "aint" and know the characters in all Shakespeare's plays, he also has time to work with the Lancers football and baseball teams.

Tony Janc

Richard McCreary

Small but productive describes the music department headed by Mr. McCreary. Mr. McCreary teaches mixed music classes, varsity band, concert band and chorus, and music appreciation. Concerts and festivals are performed by all members of his classes sometime during the year. The band also plays at the home football games and the choir provides music at the all-school masses and special events such as Senior Ring Day and graduation.



Spanish Business

Margaret McGraw

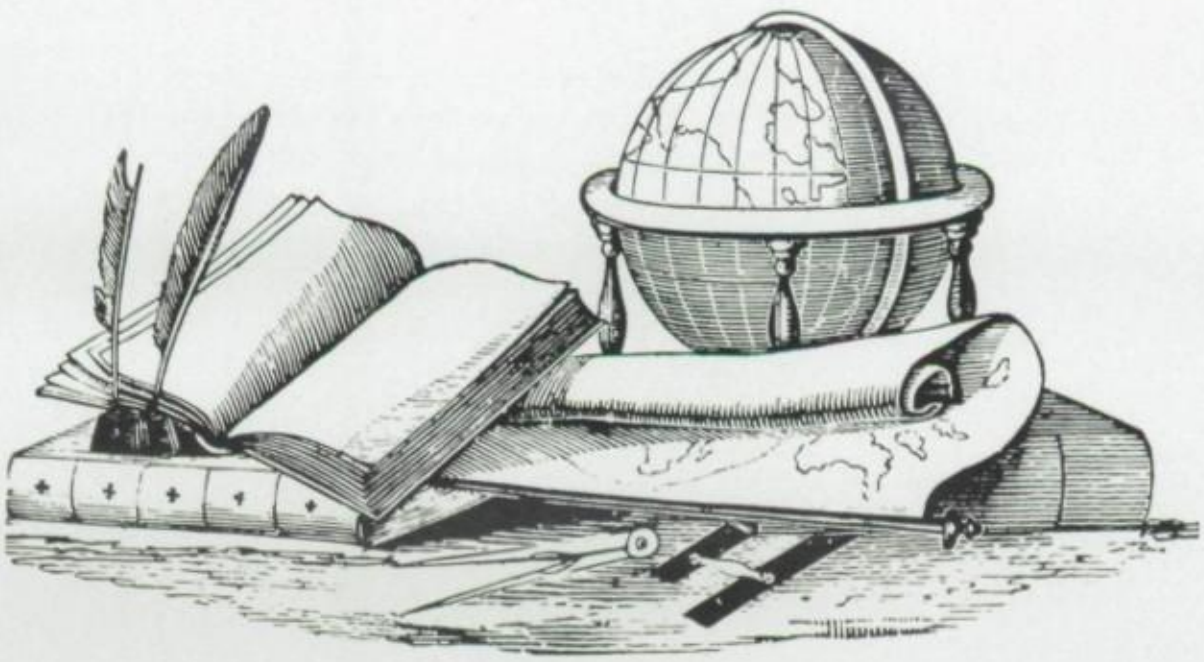
In an effort to expand the foreign language program, Mrs. Margaret "Peggy" McGraw, a first year Spanish teacher here at St. Pius teaches an entire day to Spanish classes I-IV never speaking a word of English. When students study another language they pick up a lot of valuable skills along the way. They also deepen their insight into their native tongue and understand their own English language better.

Sue Merkle

The 1984-1985 school year received a business education teacher who was able to teach the practical skill of word processing to her secretarial and clerical classes. The office courses she instructs teach students shorthand, writing and oral communication skills, typing, filing, and the use of various office machines. Miss Merkle's ability to help her students in the field of secretarial science will prepare those interested in entering the business world.

Ron Navratil

Who won the Civil War? Who was the general killed at the Battle of the Bulge? You could turn to a page in your handy dandy encyclopedia or you could go to room 121 and ask "Mr. History" himself - Ron Navratil. Aside from the wars of the past, Mr. Navratil reflects on in history, he also settles the wars on the battle field at the 50-yard line every Friday night during football and basketball season.



Sister Celeste Odorizzi

Two decades ago when Sister Celeste began her teaching career here at St. Pius she dealt strictly with the old - HISTORY! But now days she has advanced to the newest forms of technology by being able to program a computer in the BASIC language. She enjoys keeping a memory book of the school's past 20 years and is also a great aide to the faculty by being their secretary.

Rick Overberg

Besides being Director of Development for the school, Mr. O also teaches Senior religion. He is talented enough to manage both a successful football and baseball team while giving his undivided attention to managing a peaceful family life.

Suzanne Schmitz

Do you know how hard it is to make a senior meet a scholarship deadline? Or to help them decide where they are going to go to college? Just ask our own personal guidance Counselor, Suzanne Schmitz, who on a daily basis assists all students in career choices and college majors, while teaching psychology to seniors trying to make them understand what is going on inside their head.

Fr. Jack Schuler

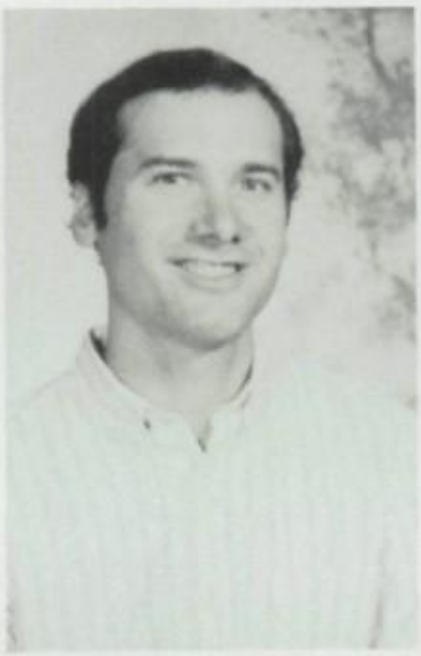
Who says you can't be in two places at one time? Not only is Fr. Schuler a parish priest at Our Lady's in Festus, he is also an active enthusiastic member of St. Pius' faculty and the Hank Aaron of racquetball. While leading the school in prayer at masses, he also heads the Pro-Life Club and the sophomore through senior religion classes. Fr. Schuler's impressive educational background began with a BA at Cardinal Glennon to completing his Masters of Divinity at Kenrick Seminary then moving all the way to the West Coast to attend the University of San Francisco to further his graduate studies.

Harriett Smith

Mrs. Smith does a great deal to better the educational opportunities of the students enrolled at St. Pius. She not only teaches Sophomores and Freshman English, classes which enhance the students grammar and literary skills. She also heads the Black Scholarship Fund for the black students attending our school. In her spare time Mrs. Smith enjoys seeing the outdoors while bicycling and is competitive on the tennis court.

Patricia Spellman

Our school should be referred to as an Institute for the Fine Arts. We are not only proud of the music department in our school, but we are also impressed with the artistic abilities Ms. Spellman passes on to her pupils in Art classes I-III and Basic Design. Annually she leads a group of advanced art students to the Art Institute in Chicago to further enhance their knowledge to well-known artists like Van Gogh, Picasso, and Spellman!



Scott Taylor

Maybe his hobby of record collecting and song writing has helped his ability to master the English language and then to reach it so creatively to his pupils. Or maybe it is his obsession with the works of William Shakespeare and his talents to reach the numerous "thees's" and "thou's". Whatever Mr. Taylor can contribute his success as an English teacher to, we all know he gets the job done and done with class.

Evelyn Tucker

This is the one teacher whose life best represents a patchwork quilt. Made up of contrasting hobbies, skills, and subjects she is a multi-sided, three-dimensional character. She instructs a course in American History that deals with the Good Ole U.S.A. to a World Cultures class that talks about people and nations that are hard to spell and even harder to pronounce. She has become moderator of the Future Teacher's Club, and is Editor-In-Chief and manager of the Lancer Legend.

Terri Wolk

St. Pius' new Christie Brinkley is the math teacher who resides in room 26 seven hours a day each school week. She is the school's "in" fashion plate and junior class sponsor that assists in the planning and preparation of the school's annual prom. She can bisect an angle or tell you when x=y because of her excellent math background and daily chore of teaching Algebra and Trigonometry.

Marty Zielonko

St. Pius' father figure is adequately displayed by Mr. Zielonko's concern for the students of this school and the safeguarding measures he takes against destroying their valuable lives. Anytime a student or faculty member needs a comforting ear or some helpful advice our "Dear Abbey" or "Father knows Best", our friend is around for the asking.

Staff

secretary, Mrs. Kathy Faver

secretary, Mrs. Carol Schmidt

bookkeeper, Sister Genevieve King

The staff of St. Pius are the unsung heroes who keep the school running no matter what the crisis.

The cooks, work hard to serve a nutritious meal everyday. Sister Genevieve tries, no matter what the odds, to keep all tuition accounts straight. The secretaries, Mrs. Faver and Mrs. Schmidt, just try to keep things together! The Custodians work hard at keeping the building from falling apart.

SPORTS

A Frustrating Season

Football is one of the most popular sports at St. Pius. It's also one of the roughest and toughest around. For the 1984-85 Lancers the season did not go well. There were lots of dedicated athletes but they just couldn't get things to click on the field. This was the year for injuries. At one point, if you weren't on crutches you weren't anything! As the season came to an end and the team started packing up their equipment they were already thinking of next year and new strategies that would bring a winning season to the St. Pius X Lancers.

Volleyball
Varsity & J.V.

Up and down · that is one way to describe the '84 volleyball season.

Mrs. Judy Rosener, head coach started the season out early with summer volleyball camp. All year the team practiced drills, serves, setting and spiking. The varsity season was highlighted by winning the DeSoto Tournament. Overall the varsity team ended up with a 10-9-2 record.

The J.V. team started its season out slowly winning only one of the first three games. But, from then on the girls continued to use their experience and acquire skills which should make them very tough in league play next year.

Susie Skaggs spikes the ball in a J.V. match.

Boys Basketball

'84 - 85 was a new beginning for the basketball Lancers. Coach Ron Navratil replaced Ralph Boyer as head coach. Coach Navratil worked the team hard on defense. One of the main difficulties encountered during the season was the lack of shooting ability.

Throughout the season each team put forth its best effort, determined that they could pull everything together. Overall the varsity had a record of 10 wins and 15 loses. The J.V. won 5 and lost 13. The freshman team encountered lots of difficulty and ended up 0 and 8 for the season.

Tom Carter goes to the basket.

Girls' Basketball

Mrs. Judy Rosener took over head coaching duties for the '84 - 85 basketball season. She stressed basic skills and fundamentals. Playing a good clean game promoting competition and sportsmanship was foremost in her mind.

With each game both varsity and J.V. showed improvement and confidence. The varsity had an overall record of 18 wins and 6 losses. The J.V. posted 8 wins and 8 losses.

Baseball

What was missing from this baseball season? Why, the rains of course! In years past, the spring rains have left baseball diamonds and outfields alike either underwater or "sink-to-your-ankles" swampland. At last count, only a couple of games had to be rescheduled because of rain.

It was an up and down year for the varsity baseball Lancers. Under the direction of new head coach Dan Bokern even the good weather couldn't keep them from a slump. The bright spot of '84-85 was Tim Miller's one hitter against Herky. Overall the varsity ended its season with a record of 6 wins and 14 losses.

J.V. coach Tony Janc reported that the J.V. fared better ending up with 3 wins, 4 losses and a tie.

This Season A "First"

For the first time ever, St. Pius fielded a girls' softball team. This year was expected to be a building and learning year. Home games were played at Sunset Park in Festus against several St. Louis schools since no other high school in Jefferson County has a softball program. The girls played against teams from Villa, Cor Jesu, NotreDame, Visitation, Nerinx, Ursuline, Kennedy, Incarnate Word, Principia, Valley Park and Cape Central.

When the season ended the softball team had posted a record of 7 wins and 8 losses.

Tennis

Thanks to coach Kevin Haselhorst this years tennis season was one of the most successful ever. The team finished 7-4 overall. If the Lancers could have posted one more conference victory they would have shared the conference championship with Festus. This would have been something that the Tennis team at St. Pius had never done.

Cross Country

The cross country team, coached by Mr. Rich Charboneau, had an excellant season. Evidently, the many practices consisting of long runs up Buck Knob paid off, as the team made it to state. Although it is a relatively young team, it received a ranking of eleventh in the state. When asked to comment on the season, Mark Kassen replied, "We had a great season and we continued to improve ourselves at every meet."

Our guys can do it all, racing not only against each other but teams all over the county in relays, sprint, middle or long distance.

Every evening after school you can find the team practicing in the drive around school. Each time out the team tried to put out its best effort and several school records were broken this year, Kevin Ogle, Steve Aubuchon, Steve Eimer and Tim Drew posted a 1:46.6 in the spring medley; 400 meter in 47.35; the 400 meter dash by Tim Drew in 56.5; the 300 meter low hurdles by Mike Sanders in 45.8; 200 meter dash by Steve Aubuchon in 23.9 and the 4-mile relay by Mark Kassen, Bob Hosner, David Molli and Chris Cooper with a time of 20:00. The J.V. record in the 200 meter dash was broken by Rich Wagner with a time 24.6.

Jeff Seyfarth hands off to Steve Eimer for his relay leg.

What Drive!

Girls Track

This year's girls' track team consisted of mostly underclassmen-one senior, six juniors, and many freshmen and sophomores. Despite the fact that it was a young team, the girls made substantial progress in every meet. The girls worked really hard under their new coach, Judy Rosener. The underclassmen were always ready to challenge the older team members. In a few years they will have a great chance to dominate Jefferson County.

Bowling Team

Front row: Schwent, Coach Albano, Ayotte. Second row: Miller, Stefan, Clevenger, Penrod

St. Pius opened up some new doors in sports for 1985. One was the introduction of a bowling team. The team competed against Hillsboro, Oakville, Fox, and Vianney. Considering the newness and the size of the team, they had a successful year. The bowling averages were:

Steve Ayotte	172
Steve Clevenger	148
Allan Miller	139
Aaron Penrod	118
Tim Schwent	131
Gary Stefan	144

The Student Council is a group of elected officials chosen by the student body annually to represent their school at faculty meetings, lectures by guest speakers, and volunteer their time to attend extracurricular activities. They are dedicated young men and women who have a reliable sense of leadership and dependability. If there is a problem or a conflict, the faculty and/or students go to the Student Council and ask them for advice. The Student Council (STUCO) annually sponsors the Homecoming Week activities, the B-team basketball (boys) tournament, and other school related activities requiring those students with the extra spirit and drive.

Homeroom Reps

Every year students from the 19 homerooms delegate one capable and responsible individual to represent their viewpoints and opinions at various events and meetings throughout the school year such as, the dress code. It is the duty of the homeroom representative to organize and maintain a record of magazine sales during the annual drive. They are also a figurehead for yearly events that involve the participation of each homeroom.

Big Brothers And Sisters

Big Brothers and Big Sisters are seniors who help incoming freshmen to become acquainted with their new surroundings at St. Pius. They help freshmen find their way around and figure out their schedules on the first day of school. They also act as team captains for the various homerooms competing on Freshman Field Day. The Big Brothers and Sisters are very enthusiastic about welcoming freshmen to the school.

NHS

Character, scholarship, leadership and service. These are the four requirements which students have to meet in order to become members of the NHS. The National Honor Society is a national organizations which honors students with high academic averages.

The NHS sponsors several fund-raisers during the school year and donates a portion of the proceeds to various local institutions such as the Pony Bird home.

Art Society

The major purpose of the Art Society was to bring aspiring young artists together to develop each individual's talent. Through their various art projects and also through their concern for others they helped make St. Pius a brighter place. The Art Society sponsored the Halloween Dance and also the St. Pat's Dance from which proceeds went to the hunger project.

The FBLA consists of those enterprising students who have taken a business class and have some interest in the business community. Besides sponsoring their annual Back-to-School Dance, the FBLA distributed cookies to the nursing homes at Christmas and helped the band with their paper drive. This year, St. Pius was the lead district chapter, meaning that they coordinated the district competition. At this competition, St. Pius FBLA competed against other schools in business related exams. It was a successful year with St. Pius sending eight members to state competition and coming in second overall.

The Pro-Life Club, now in its fourth year of existence, has always played an important part in the religious community of St. Pius. Through this group students are able to actively practice helping humanity. It focused on not just the preserving of life for the unborn, but also the elderly and other vulnerable groups. The club sponsored two successful blood drives which actually took place on campus. Members of the club did paperwork and aided the "survivors" in their recovery. Many students, not only those in the Pro Life Club, took time out to donate their blood. The club also held their third annual Senior Citizens day with such a large turnout that the activities were moved to the gym. Over the Christmas season, the club held a canned food drive and wrote cards to senior citizens in the nursing homes. The club was also successful in sending several members to Washington DC in January of 1985 to participate in the right-to-life march. The club adds much meaning to the spirit of St. Pius.

The explorers, increasing in size substantially every year, had quite an eventful 1984-85 school year. The year began with the annual "freeze out", which is a campout for all interested members. It was really an attempt to see who was the toughest. The next major activity was their AllNighter held in the St. Pius gym for members of the group from all over the county. For twelve hours they participate by playing sports, watching movies, talking with and meeting other people, or trying to keep their friends and themselves awake, which is usually the hardest thing to do.

One of the major contributions of the club to St. Pius is the sponsoring of the annual Talent Show. Students of St. Pius are able to show their talent in singing, dancing, playing an instrument, or making people laugh. The night is always enjoyed by both the students and the audience. The Explorers is a group unlike any other club at St. Pius. It is set up to provide the students with activities, mainly outdoors, aside from the school. Basically, they have fun.

A Culture Club

Spanish

The Spanish Club was set up several years ago for those students who have taken or are currently taking Spanish. Spanish has been the most active language class for the past couple of years with classes ranging into the fourth year of Spanish. The club is one that is interested in the culture of the language. They take part in a fiesta every year which is paid for by bake sales and other activities throughout the year. They attend special showing of Spanish art or dance. At the end of each year several members of the club journey forth to Mexico to see the culture first hand. Overall, the club basically serves as a supplement to the normal language classes.

Being a cheerleader may seem like a glamorous job, but these girls will be the first to admit that it takes a lot of determination and hard work to be a successful squad. Led by their sponsor, Ms. Charboneau, these girls spent many hours repeating the same cheers until they knew them by heart. Besides inciting the crowds to cheer at volleyball, football, and basketball games, the cheerleaders work at the pep rallies at the beginning of the new school year. The most important job of these cheerleaders, however, was to have fun and relate this joyfulness to the Lancer fans. They just provide another major part in that St. Pius spirit.

Leading The Pack

Leading the pack of fine Lancer athletes was the Letterman's Club. This club is for those athletes who have been successful in lettering on the Varsity level. The club took a very active role in school activities - both in fundraising and service projects. One of the highlights of the year was the Letterman lottery. For the mere cost of 50¢ one was able to gamble for half of the profits taken in. Many a person anxiously awaited to hear their name on the afternoon intercom. The group also sponsored their annual Pancake and Sausage breakfast. Members were able to attend area sports events through the club. In the way of service projects, the lettermen planted trees around the school in an effort to beautify their surroundings. They also offered a scholarship for incoming freshman athletes and visited the area grade schools to promote St. Pius and the award. Led by their moderator of several years, Mr. Overberg, the group had a very successful year, adding much to the spirit of St. Pius.

Practice, Practice
And More Practice!

Many hours of practice are exemplified when you think of these entertainment groups of St. Pius. The majorettes lead the marching band during football half-time activities and at the homecoming parade. The flag corps performs to the music of the marching band during half-time.

After football season, the marching band comes indoors and becomes the Concert band, performing two public concerts during Christmas and Spring. They also travel to Jefferson College to the band festival where they compete against other schools for a top rating.

Varsity band is an intermediate group that after a year of practice will move up to be members of the Marching/Concert band.

Sing Out!

Fill our days with music. These three singing groups make this an appropriate statement!

Both choirs joined together to create a large singing group for the rededication ceremony. They also perform during the Christmas and Spring Concerts held here at St. Pius.

The liturgical singers make our morning special, since they practiced during activity period, when all could hear. This group makes all the St. Pius liturgies special.

ACTIVITIES

Ring Day

What appears to be the end
May really be a new beginning
For if we can imagine it,
We can achieve it,
If we can dream it,
We can become it, . . .
Today we're just moving clouds
Tomorrow we'll try mountains.

Ring Day is the first day that seniors take their place as the leading class of the school. Ring Day, October 12, began with a procession of the senior class to the theme of "Mahogany", the class song. The senior girls carried a burgundy rose and the senior guys wore burgundy boutonnieres. The gym was filled with parents, friends, underclassmen, and the pastors from the various parishes. Mass was celebrated with Fr. Jack Schuler as the main celebrant. Some seniors participated in the mass by reading and saying petitions.

Father Dalton blessed the rings after mass, and Miss Greaving and he then presented each senior with a ring. Afterward there was hugging, picture-taking, turning of rings, and a few tears.

The seniors got a chance to visit with each other at the special buffet provided by the St. Pius cooks. After the dinner, each senior sent off a balloon and everyone crammed into a class picture.

Ring Day was made extra special because of the 25th anniversary of St. Pius. A special ring was designed for the seniors, a colored stone with a "25" showing beneath it. The seniors had a choice between the traditional ring and the special ring. A great deal of work went into Ring Day. Students, teachers, and administration spent their time to make it a memorable experience. This work and dedication paid off as each senior began the year with a new sense of accomplishment.

A Night In Heaven

Prom - May 4, 1985

PROM - the time for all ordinary students to don formals and tuxedos and set out for a night of romance!

With glittering stars, fluffy white clouds, a dimly lit staircase, and a theme song, "Heaven", by Bryan Adams the illusion of heaven so many of us have grown up with - depicted by feelings of happiness, bliss, and perfection - were brought to earth and imitated for the nearly fifty couples who were fortunate enough to enter into this paradise for a brief moment of ecstasy.

The junior class did a terrific job choosing the theme and creating "A Night in Heaven". They transformed the gym into a spectacular ballroom fitting this gala dance. Prom was a success not only because of the juniors and seniors, who planned and attended, but because of the underclassmen who prepared and served food. For the couples who left this heavenly paradise floating on cloud 9, the pleasant memories this night created will not be forgotten.

25th Anniversary Mass

On Sunday, May 19, Archbishop John May along 18 concelebrants offered Mass celebrating St. Plus X's 25th anniversary. This mass doubled as the Senior Baccalaureate Mass. In his homily the Archbishop reviewed the past 25 years of recent history as it pertained to St. Plus X High School. He congratulated the class of 1985 and wished them well in all endeavors.

After mass the seniors and their parents were special guests at dinner, Archbishop May presided over the meal along with several priests from surrounding parishes whose students attend St. Pius.

Afterwards, Father Dalton announced the awards and schoolarship winners. The class of 1985 broke all existing scholarship and awards records with 75 scholarships being given to 36 students. Scholarships were granted in areas of academics, talent, leadership, athletics, art and music. Carol Sickman and Jim Zimmermann were National Merit Finalists; Jeff Bridwell and Cathy Dent were National Merit Commended students. Eighty-five percent of the class went on to futher education, either in 4 or 2 year colleges or universities, nursing or trade schools.

Graduation

Ron Ott receives his diploma from Father Dalton and Miss Greaving.

The day, May 26th, 1985, was a beautiful warm Sunday. What made it really special, however, was that this was the day for the graduation ceremony for the class of 1985. The class slowly filed into the gym to the familiar music of "Pomp and Circumstance". After a brief encouraging message from Father Deutschmann, the first administrator of St. Pius X, the conferring of diplomas began. Proudly each graduate walked forward to accept their prized diploma from Father Dalton, administrator, and Miss Greaving, principal.

As with all good things, there must be an end and so, after receiving their diplomas, the class of 1985 left the gym to meet their new beginnings. The foyer was filled with classmates saying their final good-byes and wishing each other the best for the future.

Special thanks need to be expressed at this time to all those who have given so freely during this special anniversary year. The 1985 LANCE staff adds their thanks to our benefactors without whose help the LANCE would not be possible.

Sister Mary Edith Donze, CPPS has kept a beautiful flower garden for all to enjoy in front of the school.

Thank you Sister "Edy"!

Michelle,
I'm a girl I barely know (but already like)

Maynard,
Well here we go again, this is the 3rd year I've signed your year book and I always have been your friend and U have always been there for me. U know we go — U have been through a lot together and probably will go through a lot more. U don't have 2 say the same things. But well here we go — U always have been my best friend and U have been there for me. We've been friends for a long time and probably will go through a lot more. I
